

TEAMWORK FOR THE TROOPS

STEVE SANCHEZ / The Star

A LITTLE HELP FOR HIS FRIENDS: Pacers guard Andre Owens checks out the work of Rahquill Nunn, 8. Christian Robinson (left), also 8, stands by to offer support to his Greenbriar Elementary School classmate. The second-graders were involved in a service project for military personnel.

BOOM, BABY: Indiana Pacers mascot Boomer dances to the chants of "Boomer, Boomer, Boomer" while collecting high-fives from students as the school day ends at Greenbriar.

Pacers players coach second-graders in creating some special greetings

Indiana Pacers players and their mascot Boomer joined second-graders at Greenbriar Elementary School on Thursday to make Valentine's Day cards for members of the U.S. armed forces.

Some military personnel also visited with students as they participated in the Washington Township school's service learning project.

After making the cards, every Greenbriar student joined the Pacers and Boomer as they lined the halls and gave one another high-fives.

Assistant Principal Alicia Harris helped organize the student event.

— Star report